What is NGEnvironment about?

There is the need to train capable leaders able to express their willingness to engage in the issues and challenges they see around them.

NGEnvironment will train such leaders, helping to develop skills to find creative solutions to local/regional problems, recognising potential leadership and harnessing such qualities for the benefit of the environment and of others, through job creation, social inclusion and active citizenship.

The project will demonstrate, as intended by the European Commission, that green entrepreneurship is an effective means to boost employment and the efficient use of natural and social capital.

NGEnvironment aims at capacitate new leaders improving entrepreneurial, foreign language and digital skills and fostering employability, socio-educational and professional development.

Target groups of NGEnvironment

1

- Adults citizens willing to become NGO leaders/entrepreneurs

2

- Existing NGO staff who are interested to receive updated training in a perspective of lifelong learning

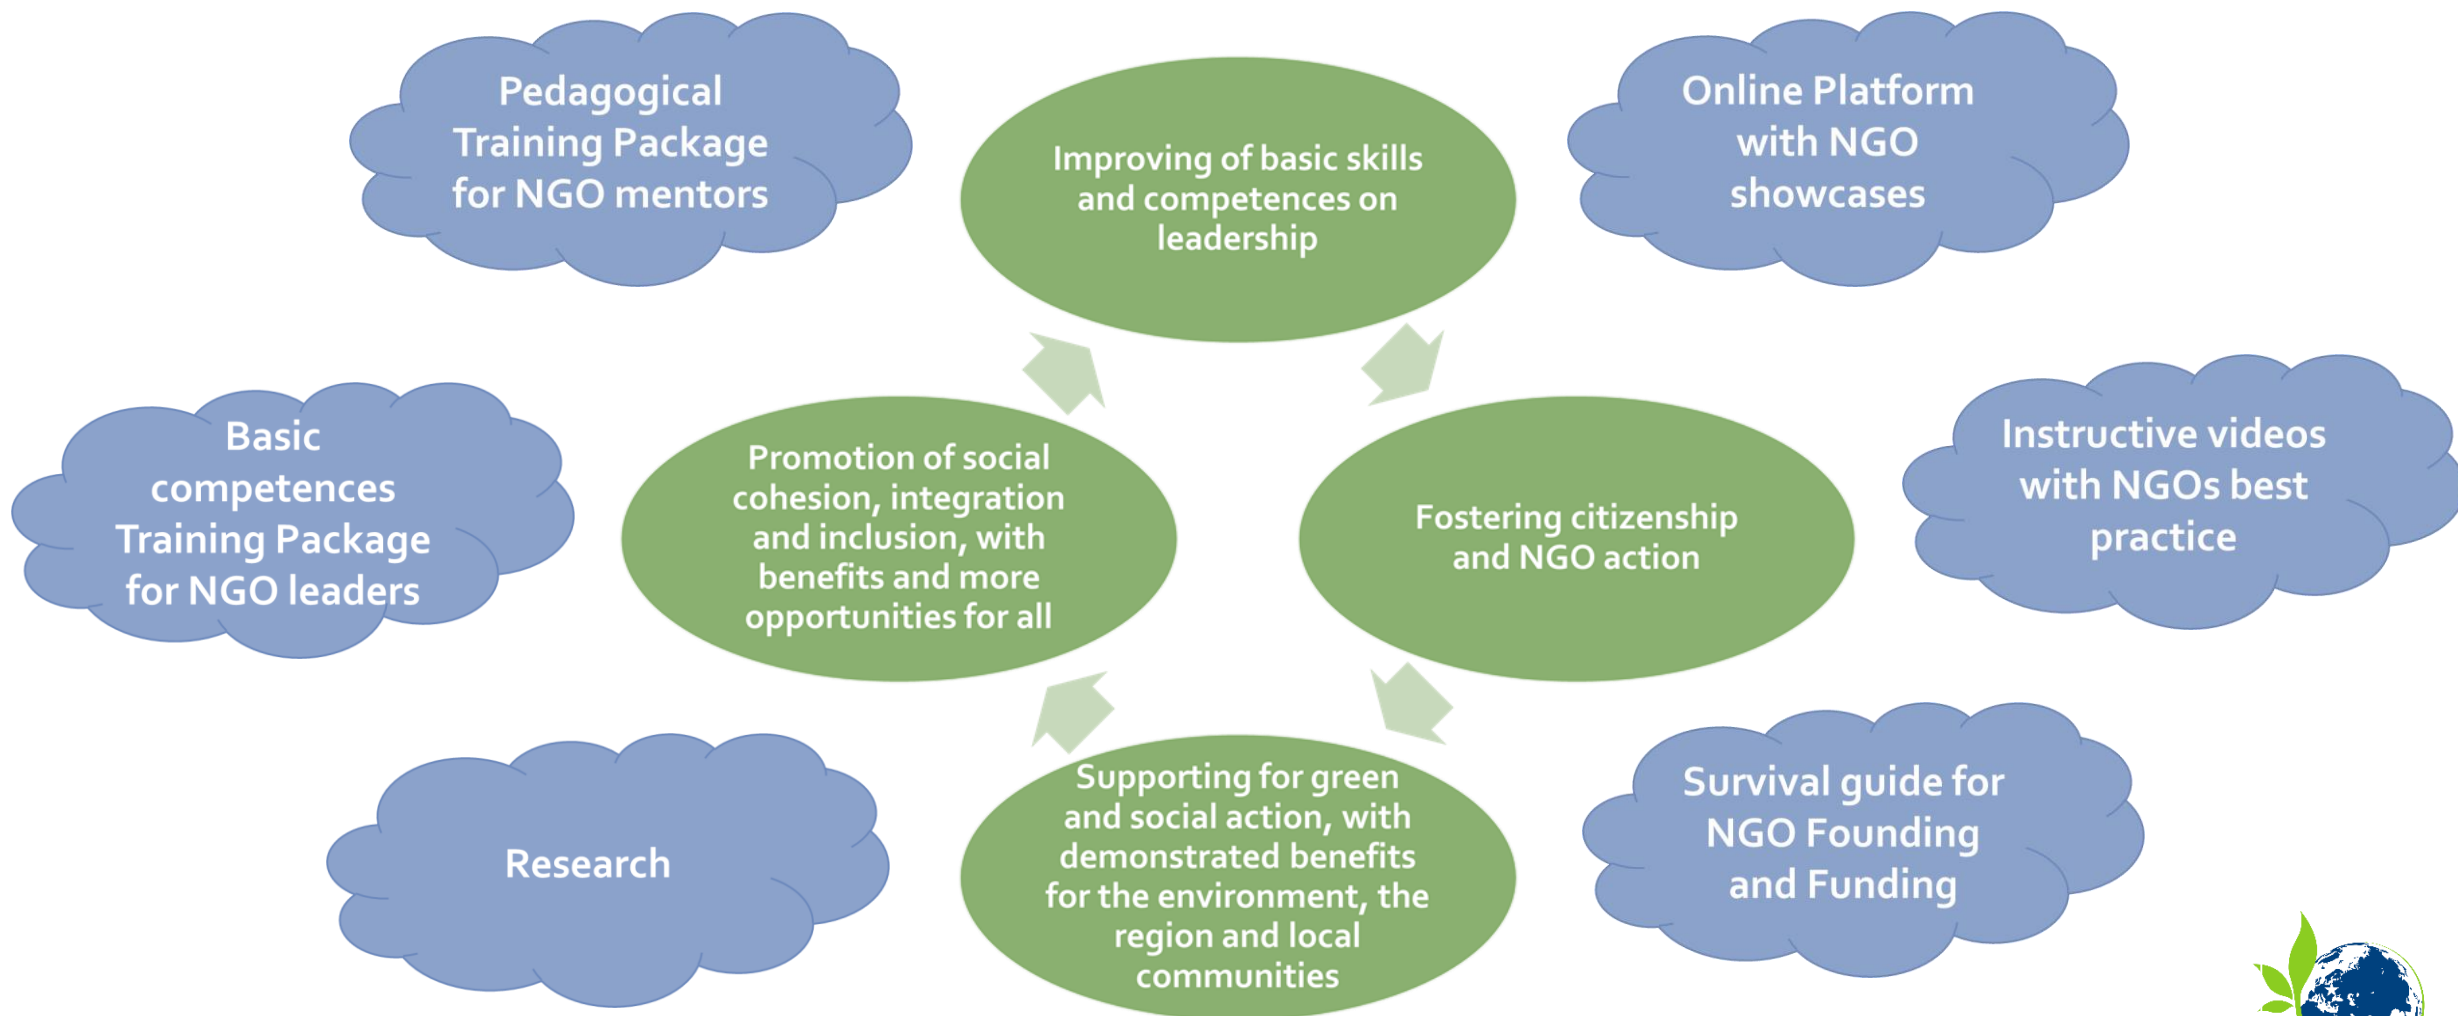

3

- Existing NGO staff willing to share their expertise and to support the new leaders by participating in the immersion process
